

Default columns layout

- Each Xray page will have a table with configurable columns
- Resetting to default columns

The Xray administrator can set the default columns layout for each table of Xray views.

The screenshot shows the 'Administration' section of the Xray interface. Under 'Add-ons', the 'Default Column Layouts' tab is selected. It displays various dropdown menus for defining default columns for different tables:

- Test Execution TestRun Columns: Key, Summary, Test Type, #Req, #Def, Test Sets association with a Test, TestRun Assignee.
- Test TestRun Columns: Key, Fix Version/s, Revision, TestRun Executed By, TestRun Started, TestRun Finished, TestRun Defects.
- Test Set Test Columns: Key, Summary.
- Test Plan Test Columns: Key, Summary, Requirements, #Test Executions, Issue Assignee.
- Project Test Columns: Key, Summary, Test Type.
- Project Test Set Columns: Key, Summary.
- Project Test Execution Columns: Key, Fix Version/s, Revision.
- Project Test Plan Columns: Key, Summary, Begin Date, End Date, Fix Version/s.

Each Xray page will have a table with configurable columns

In each Xray table, you are free to choose what information you want in each page.

The screenshot shows the 'TEST for CALC-110' view. On the right, a 'Columns' configuration modal is open, listing various fields with checkboxes for selection:

- Summary
- Test Type
- #Req
- #Def
- Test Sets association with a Test
- TestRun Assignee
- Component/s
- Affects Version/s
- Asset

At the bottom of the modal are 'Done' and 'Cancel' buttons.

Resetting to default columns

If you want to reset the columns configuration to its default values, click Restore Defaults.
